Xiaoru Lin

PhD Candidate in Economics, Corvinus University of Budapest
Budapest, Hungary | xiaoru.lin@stud.uni-corvinus.hu | Personal Website

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Applied Microeconomics: Family and Kinship, Population Ageing, Intergenerational Caregiving, Labour Economics, Social Inequality

EDUCATION

PhD in Economics 09/2024 – Present
Corvinus University of Budapest
Supervisors: Ágoston Reguly and Andreas Orland

Visiting Researcher 03/2027 – 07/2027
Friedrich-Alexander-Universität Erlangen-Nürnberg, Germany
Host: Prof. Dr. Regina T. Riphahn

M.A. in Economic Analysis 09/2020 – 07/2023
Corvinus University of Budapest

M.A. in Insurance
Southwest Minzu University, China

B.Sc. in Information Management & Information Systems 09/2016 – 06/2020
Chongqing University of Posts & Telecommunications

Visiting Student, International Economics 2018
Dankook University, South Korea

DISSERTATION RESEARCH

Public works programmes as a safety net for vulnerable workers: evidence from Hungarian linked administrative data

Does the Hungarian Public Works Programme Help the Most Vulnerable?
with Ágoston Reguly; draft available upon request
Uses a fuzzy regression discontinuity design at a district-level development threshold to estimate how access to public employment affects employment, labour-force exit, and unemployment duration among older low-skilled workers.

Protection That Expires: Public Works, Access to Health Care, and Mortality
Work in progress
Uses matched event-study designs to examine how entry into public works affects health-care use and mortality, and whether care access tied to the employment contract fades once participation ends.

WORKING PAPERS

Migration, Money, and Caregiving Reallocation: Sibling Support Division in Chinese Eldercare
Revise & Resubmit, Research on Aging
Examines how adult children's migration reshapes financial transfers and caregiving responsibilities within families, with particular attention to support reallocation among siblings, using CLASS panel data with sibling and dyadic fixed effects.

WORK IN PROGRESS

Who Replaces the Missing Children? Childlessness, Care Substitution, and the Future of Old-Age Care in Europe
Sole-authored
Examines how informal and formal care respond to the absence of adult children when older individuals develop care needs, using longitudinal SHARE data.

Child Gender Composition and Family Care Networks: Evidence from Europe
with Márton Medgyesi
Investigates how children's gender composition shapes the allocation of informal care among siblings following the onset of parental care needs, using SHARE panel data.

OTHER RESEARCH

Green Fund Shareholding and Corporate Climate Risk Disclosure
Under review, International Review of Economics & Finance
Examines the relationship between green fund ownership and corporate climate-risk disclosure among Chinese listed firms.

ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

Research Assistant 03/2025 – Present
HUN-REN Centre for Economic and Regional Studies (KRTK) R

esearch team: Balázs Muraközy and Márta Bisztray

- Support empirical research on firm behaviour, labour-market outcomes, and environmental sustainability using R and Stata.
- Work with large-scale Hungarian administrative and firm-level data, including data cleaning, dataset construction, econometric analysis, and literature reviews.

Lecturer 09/2024 – 02/2026
Corvinus University of Budapest Budapest, Hungary

- Taught Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, and Causal Data Analysis.

Ad hoc Reviewer: Journal of Aging & Social Policy (2026)

CONFERENCES & PRESENTATIONS

- 2026: MKE Annual Economic Conference, Budapest, Hungary
- 2026: 14th PhD Workshop in Economics, Pécs, Hungary
- 2026: BEBE Seminar, Corvinus University of Budapest, Hungary
- 2025: BEBE Seminar, Corvinus University of Budapest, Hungary
- 2025: Women in Data Science Budapest Conference, Hungary
- 2025: 24th Management, Enterprise and Benchmarking Conference, Budapest, Hungary

METHODS, DATA & SKILLS

Methods: RDD, matched event-study and DID designs, panel data with fixed effects, meta-analysis.
Data: Hungarian linked administrative panel; SHARE; CLASS; HRS.
Software: R, Stata, Python, SQL, LaTeX.
Languages: Chinese (native); English (professional); Korean (basic); German (elementary).

HONOURS & AWARDS

Spotlight on Teaching Award, Corvinus University of Budapest 2026
InSPiR2eS Global Pitching Research Competition, Second Place 2025
Stipendium Hungaricum Scholarship, Hungarian Government 2020 – 2023
Chinese Government Scholarship, China Scholarship Council 2020 – 2023

OTHER PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Project Manager, Innovation Projects, CEEC Innovation Center Ningbo–Budapest 06/2025 – 05/2026
Purchaser, Manufacturing Supply Chain, Kedali Hungary Kft., Gödöllő 10/2023 – 08/2024

SERVICE & VOLUNTEERING

Chair of the Supervisory Board 9/2026 – Present
Doctoral Student Union (DSU / DÖK), Corvinus University of Budapest Budapest, Hungary

Oversee doctoral student union governance,audit administrative compliance, and evaluate student scholarship allocations.

Youth Volunteer Association, Chongqing, China 09/2016 – 09/2020
Supported elderly individuals in developing life skills and promoted educational programmes for vulnerable groups.

REFERENCES

Ágoston Reguly
PhD Main Supervisor
Assistant Professor
Corvinus University of Budapest
agoston.reguly@uni-corvinus.hu

Andreas Orland
PhD Co-Supervisor
Associate Professor
Corvinus University of Budapest
andreas.orland@uni-corvinus.hu

Márton Medgyesi
Research Collaborator
Senior Research Fellow
TÁRKI Social Research Institute
medgyesi@tarki.hu